RESCINDED JURY ORDER SOUGHT

Citizens File Suit At Natchitoches Against Judge Jones

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Citizens [illegible] District Judge James W. Jones [illegible] filed here seeking to [illegible] dismissal of [illegible] grand jury panel October [illegible].

The [illegible] veniremen were over age or otherwise disqualified [illegible] that there was "an absence of [illegible] of drawing a jury of 12 persons [illegible] true."

The citizens [illegible] alleged [illegible] the names [illegible] compose the [illegible] panel, and that [illegible] are [illegible] therefore [illegible] well [illegible] qualified [illegible] jurors in the parish of Natchitoches.

The citizens, citing three statutes, said that "there is no legal justification for the dismissal of a grand jury panel by the district judge under these circumstances and that the order was improvidently and unlawfully rendered.

"Your petitioners believe that the recent [illegible], investigations and state-wide rumors of scandal, fraud and corruption in public office and public [illegible] demand that the integrity of the courts be maintained and public confidence in the machinery of justice be protected."

The suit was filed on behalf of the citizens voluntary committee of Louisiana by Charles Payne Fenner, Jr., and A. Brown Moore, attorneys. Signers of the petition were Elise Cockerham Clark, W. T. Cunningham, D. S. Williams, C. R. Scott, Paul A. Ducournau, W. D. Few and Dr. J. B. Pratt.

'DEADHEAD' PROBE ASKED BY JUDGE

OPELOUSAS, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Judge Isom Guillory told the St. Landry parish grand jury when it went into session yesterday that possible violations of the "deadhead" and dual office-holding laws should be investigated.

The "court instructs you," the judge said, "that to constitute a violation of this criminal law (dual office-holding) there must be the holding of two state 'offices' as distinguished from mere 'employment' by some department of the state."

The fall term of court is scheduled to begin here November 27.

3 ACCUSED BANK ROBBERS GIVE UP

MALVERN, Ark., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Three bedraggled fugitives, hunted for five days for the $3,000 robbery of the Merchants and Planters bank of Sparkman November 9, surrendered without resistance at dawn today to a posse of state, county and federal officers.

The men, armed with a shotgun and pistol, were surrounded in a brick plant on the outskirts of Malvern, weak from exposure and hunger.

Superintendent Gray Albright of the state police said $1,600 in currency, identified as part of the loot from the bank, was recovered from the men. He said they told him they had hidden approximately $500 in silver under a log in the woods but did not immediately account for the approximate $1,000 remainder.

Taken to state police headquarters at Little Rock, the men gave their names as Otis Ewing, 34, Port Arthur, Tex.; Berl Trammel, 22, Beaumont, Tex.; and Preston Vautrot, 41, Church Point, La.

Hunger which forced the men to buy food supplies from a small store near Poyen last night led to their capture, state police said.

The Sparkman bank was robbed by three unmasked men who forced three employes and two customers into the bank's vault after scooping up all cash in sight last Thursday afternoon. The men fled in an automobile but after exchanging shots with Sheriff W. B. Paxton of Grant county on a blocked highway a few hours later, turned into the woods where impassable logging roads soon forced them to abandon their car.

SLAIN O'HARE'S EX-BODYGUARD KNIFE VICTIM

Questioned By Los Angeles Police After Being Stabbed

LETTERS GIVE CLUES

One Says Certain People Know Who Was Driving Death Car

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Police found a letter today in the pocket of a former bodyguard for Edward J. O'Hare, slain Chicago sportsman, saying "certain people know who was driving the car when they got Eddie."

The man, Russell Stoddard, 21, was stabbed superficially last night on a downtown street by one of two men who accosted him with the greeting "Rusty." Treated for his wounds and questioned for two hours, he collapsed and was taken to a hospital in a coma.

He regained consciousness several hours later, but Detective-Lieutenant Leroy Sanderson said he would not be questioned further except at the request of Chicago police. The latter had no record of Stoddard, whose aliases Sanderson listed as Albert Stoddard and Russell Scroggins.

The detective supplied midwest authorities with the name of a Cicero, Ill., man found scrawled on the envelope containing the letter. He said the one-time chauffeur apparently had been here for the past month. O'Hare was shot to death in gangland fashion last Wednesday.

The letter, airmailed from Little Rock, Ark., Saturday, was signed with the initials F R D Y N G.

It contained a cryptic warning that "he has a few friends out there where you are and we don't want to lose you now."

The missive started:

"Hello Russ. Well, I guess you did the right thing about leaving when you did, for if you had stayed you would probably have been taken with Eddie when this happened.

"Don't blame anyone though, Russ, for it couldn't be helped. He wouldn't let anyone else go with him after you left. . . .

"Just lay low and take it easy until we send for you and everything will be O. K. Just let me give you a little warning though. Don't try to cross us in any way, Russ, for you are not fooling around with a guy in Dallas now . . .

"Say, Russ, I have an idea the boss will have a pretty nice job for you when you get back. You see, certain people know who was driving the car

VIDALIA ENDS 'MOVING DAY'

Oldest Town On West Bank Of Mississippi Moved Back

VIDALIA, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—"Moving day" has ended for the 1,500 residents of Vidalia, the oldest town on the west bank of the Mississippi river.

This historic Concordia parish seat, which has been inhabited since 1802 and which for many years was an important shipping center when the Mississippi was the nation's most essential traffic artery, now rests on dry ground six blocks from the river.

The Work Projects administration today announced that it had completed the streets, sidewalks and drainage facilities in Vidalia's new townsite, leaving as it only project the extension of the town's water system.

The rebuilding of Vidalia was made necessary after United States engineers dredged out the famous Vidalia sand bar, cut through Gile's Bend and sent the racing current against the town's protection levee. These currents so undermined the levee that the town was in danger. In order to offset this menace the army engineers widened the river at this point by building a new protection levee down what once was the town's main street.

WPA lent a hand in the moving by laying out and paving new streets and sidewalks and installing concrete drainage pipes. The work began last January.

2,000 In West Monroe For Baptist Convention

Southern Leaders, Louisiana Pastors And Laymen At Meeting

Including outstanding southern Baptist workers, Louisiana pastors and laymen, a crowd estimated at more than 2,000 jammed the First Baptist church of West Monroe Tuesday afternoon for the opening session of the 92nd annual convention of Louisiana Baptists. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe, is presiding at the sessions.

Comprising a two and one-half hour program, the first convention session was opened with a song service directed by E. L. Carnett, of the Baptist Bible institute in New Orleans. The devotional was presented by Dr. C. W. Culp of the Queensboro Baptist church, Shreveport. The report on the order of business was given by the chairman, Dr. Charles R. Shirar, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in Alexandria. Dr. J. Norris Palmer, pastor of the First Baptist church in Baton Rouge, reported for the committee on committees.

Welcoming the enthusiastic delegates to the convention and to the Twin Cities was Dr. A. E. Prince, pastor of the First Baptist church, West Monroe. The response was given by Rev. B. F. Goodwin of Jena. Outstanding visitors were recognized.

Convention President Hastings delivered the executive annual report, recounting the year's progress made by the state convention. The executive board's report was presented by

Grand Jury Reports WPA Work Under Political Influence

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The grand jury in the federal district court today returned indictments against Leon C. Weiss, New Orleans architect, and Monte E. Hart, New Orleans contractor, on nine counts of using the mails to defraud and reported to Judge Ben C. Dawkins that the jury was of the "unanimous opinion" that the selection of WPA workers had been "unduly influenced by individuals possessed of political power."

Benjamin F. Bradford, city commissioner of Alexandria, was indicted on a charge of diverting WPA funds.

Weiss and Hart were indicted in connection with an alleged fraud in connection with the construction of Leche hall at Louisiana Polytechnic institute. They are charged with having obtained $56,914.42 of state funds through this alleged fraud.

Malcolm Lafargue, assistant United States district attorney, asked for the issuance of capiases for the two indicted men and Judge Dawkins fixed bonds in the case at $5,000 each.

Europe's Little Nations Ready To Halt Big Ones

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

The Hitlerian-allied war of sound finally has talked itself into an uncomfortable position from which it would be quite easy to tumble straight into a general European upheaval.

The many small countries, taking courage from each other, are getting over their fright more than a bit and are sticking out their chests.

They are bent on maintaining their neutrality, but just now are showing a sturdy determination not to knuckle under further in the matter of their independence and territorial integrity.

The Finns' daring rejection of the Russian territorial demands, the vigorous preparations of Holland and Belgium to defend their neutrality against aggression if necessary, the reported new Balkan agreement tending towards defensive cooperation under Italian sponsorship—all these developments mark a hardening of the political temper of the continent.

It is significant, as showing the trend of affairs, that in all instances this attitude is the outgrowth of fancied or real dangers emanating from Germany or comrade Russia or both these co-workers. The Anglo-French allies apparently haven't inspired fear thus far among the lesser states.

Thus we find a large number of little nations in southeastern and western Europe which, while not openly hostile to Germany, are decidedly on the defensive against the fatherland.

This in effect represents what seems from this distance to be a moral gain for the allies, who undoubtedly have exploited the situation to the full.

So delicate has become the position of some of these small states that it wouldn't take much bullying to set them to using the arms which they already have ready at hand. And there is indication of a growing tendency among them to support each other.

Indeed, the way things have been framing the past few days it wouldn't be surprising to see development of coalitions which, taken as a whole,

English Destroyer Goes Down After Hitting German Mine

WORSE WAR HINTED

Hitler's Forces Indicate More Determined Attack On Shipping

(By Associated Press)

Warfare at sea, where the conflict between Germany and the western allies thus far has been fought most intensely, today inflicted new casualties on both Britain and Germany.

A British destroyer, a British freighter, a British trawler and two German freighters were listed as new losses.

The destroyer, unidentified by a British admiralty announcement, was said to have sunk after hitting a German mine. One member of the crew was killed and six were missing.

The trawler Cresswell was sunk by a German submarine. The 8,003-ton freighter Matra went down after an explosion in the North sea; it was believed she hit a mine.

German crewmen scuttled the freighters Parana and Mecklenburg to avoid capture, the admiralty declared.

Germany reported success in an aerial attack yesterday on the Shetland islands, north of Scotland, asserting that two flying boats had been shot down and that the raiders had scored "a probable hit on an English cruiser."

Britain contended no important damage was inflicted by the raiders.

At the same time Germany hinted at an even stiffer campaign against British shipping.

Berlin newspapers published lists of 29 British ships and five French vessels classified as armed merchantmen. Prominent display of the lists in all newspapers implied a warning to travelers and shippers against using these vessels since they are armed against submarines and thus might be the subject of attack without warning.

Controversy over the United States' neutrality restrictions was stirred anew as Ireland complained to the state department against inclusion in the war zone from which American ships are barred.

Ireland is neutral, her minister in Washington declared, and has been injured by having American shipping

W. M. U. BOARD MEETING HELD

Fifty Women From All Parts Of State At Session Here

Some 50 Woman's Missionary union representatives from all over the state attended the Louisiana W. M. U. executive board meeting held at the First Baptist church in West Monroe last night and this morning, prior to the three-day Louisiana Baptist convention which is holding its opening session this afternoon. Mrs. M. L. Jenkins of Mansfield, state W. M. U. head, presided.

Plans for 1940 work included a financial aim of $45,000 for the cooperative church program; $7,720 for home missions; $7,000 for state missions; a 10 per cent increase over the 1939 December contribution for foreign missions. The special project for 1940 will be the appropriation of $2,230 for a new building project for the Missionary Training school in Louisville, Ky. A part of this will be used to memoralize in the school, Miss Hannah Reynolds, of New Orleans, state W. M. U. secretary, a convention visitor.

Concerning the special Ruby Anniversary project of 1939, it was reported that $6,369 have been contributed for a new administration building at Acadia academy. Plans for the dedication of the building were discussed, and a committee appointed to arrange a program. A missionary trip will be made by the state unit in connection with the dedication program at the academy.

Mrs. H. E. Morrow of Shreveport was appointed chairman of the nominating committee to report at the annual meeting of the state group in Baton Rouge in April.

2 LOUISIANA SENATORS GET SOME OF MUD

Sam Jones Looses Blast At Overton In Address Over Radio

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Louisiana's two United States senators are beginning to catch some of the mud that's being tossed around in the Louisiana political campaign.

Gubernatorial Candidate Sam Jones, in a radio address, loosed a blast at Senator John H. Overton for supporting the state administration. He struck less heavily at Senator Allen Ellender.

James H. Morrison, another candidate, said at Oak Grove that the administrationists "deceived you, lied to you and robbed you" but that citizens would set things aright in the January 16 Democratic primary.

Candidate James A. Noe, speaking at Gueydan, asked "if there is anyone in Louisiana so foolish as to believe that this administration will make good on a single campaign promise."

Jones said that if elected he would advocate a law to prevent members of the legislature from holding any other job with the state.

He took issue with the recent statement of Senator Overton that United States Attorney General Frank Murphy had assured him that no indictment of Governor Long "was being contemplated."

Jones said, "Senator Overton is a lawyer and should also know that the attorney general of the United States is without any power whatsoever to indict anyone. That function lies solely and exclusively within the domain of the grand juries assembled, sworn in, and charged with that public duty."

"But one can understand the anxiety of the senator in this matter. The faction that the senator belongs to has been so dominated with indictments that no wonder the senator is trembling and quaking in his senatorial toga. * * *

"Over two hundred indictments have been returned by federal and state grand juries against public officials who have violated their oaths to, stolen the money of, and brought shame upon the state of Louisiana; and every one of these two hundred odd indictments are against friends, or associates, or pals, or companions, or downright chums and bed-fellows of the senator and the governor. * * *

"We are assured by Senator Overton, therefore, that Earl Long is the proper man for us to vote for. Senator Overton assures us of this fact now just as he assured us four years ago

BRIEFS ORDERED IN OUSTER SUIT

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—District Judge J. D. Womack, after hearing arguments in a suit seeking ouster of Governor Earl K. Long and Attorney General Lessley P. Gardiner, ordered briefs filed by attorneys.

Briefs were also ordered in the case in which Matthew S. Braniff, New Orleans attorney, is seeking to compel Governor Long to call a special election to name a district attorney for Orleans parish.

Two citizens are seeking removal from office of Long and Gardiner. They claim long violated an 1873 law by first recognizing David Ellison as attorney-general and later Gardiner. The old statute states that a public official forfeits his office by recognizing another official serving illegally.

In the other case, Braniff alleges that Charles A. Byrne was appointed New Orleans district attorney illegally and that when Byrne resigned recently Niels F. Hertz was illegally appointed to replace him. Braniff claims that where a vacancy existed an unexpired term of more than a year required a special election.

GERMAN REPLY TO BE CARRIED IN BRIEF NOTE

'PEACE IMPOSSIBLE'

Ribbentrop Says Answer Based On British, French Attitude

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop today informed the Belgian and Netherlands envoys that Germany's reply to the joint mediation offer from the lowland nations would be a polite "No."

The formal reply to the offer made November 7 by the queen of the Netherlands and the king of the Belgians will be sent tonight to The Hague and Brussels with instructions to German envoys that it be presented tomorrow, informed sources said.

The note was said to be only a page and a half in length and was drafted by von Ribbentrop who informed the two small nations of its contents today.

Von Ribbentrop was said to have stated that Germany's reply was based on answers already received by the two sovereigns from Britain and France which he said rendered peace impossible at this time.

(The French reply, delivered Sunday, declared it was up to Germany to repair "the injustices which force has imposed on Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland" before peace could be discussed.

(Britain promised consideration of any German proposals which might "afford real prospect of achieving" Britain's avowed aim to halt German "aggression.")

A German high command communique today asserted Nazi bombing planes shot down two flying boats and scored a "probable hit on an English cruiser" in a raid on the Shetland islands yesterday.

(British spokesmen said the Shetland islands suffered no damage except a few shattered windows.)

At the same time authorized sources indicated a sterner Nazi sea campaign was in the making, involving possible submarine attacks without warning. Berlin newspapers published a list of 29 British and five French merchant ships as armed for combat.

While reporting quiet on the western front, the high command communique continued:

"Despite unfavorable weather, a German flying squadron undertook an attack on the Shetland islands. In the encounter two flying boats were

CBS Pays Formal Tribute To Shreveport Station Tonight

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 14.—(Special—Over its coast to coast national network the Columbia Broadcasting system will salute KWKH, a Shreveport Times and News-Star—World station, from 9 to 9:30 o'clock tonight. The tribute is in recognition of KWKH's increase from 1,000 to 50,000 watts power and its new $200,000 transmitting plant near Dixie.

An all-star program of famous Columbia performers will take part in this 30-minute recognition of progress of radio in Shreveport and in congratulation to the southwestern area and the 3,000,000 radio listeners directly in the KWKH territory on the establishment of a station with power unsurpassed by any other station in the United States. Music, singing, orchestrations, sports and general entertainment will be included.

Raymond Scott, famed Columbia impressionistic composer, and his orchestra will lead the way in the salute. Nan Wynn, blues singer who has just completed an engagement with the Hal Kemp orchestra of the Waldorf Astoria starlight roof in New York, and Jerry Cooper, popular in radio and movies, will offer the vocal selections.

The modernaires of Paul Whiteman's orchestra also are listed on the program, as is Mel Allen, well known

These neat speeches are [illegible] with bad news for the Dutch-Belgian peace proposals, or so far as that goes, for any other mediation offers in the near future. This lies in the Anglo-French announcement of their war aims which call for restoration of Poland, Czechoslovakia and Austria.

Since these three conquests represent some of the brightest jewels in the fuehrer's crown, it would take an imagination of very high horsepower to visualize the handing over of the territories without a fight.

Nor, as a matter of fact, do the allies expect Hitler to burst into tears and meet their terms. What the allied war-aims announcement means is this:

England and France have in substance served notice again that the appeasement stage is past, and that they have definitely made up their minds to break Nazidom wide open before they make peace. They don't want peace until they have achieved that—unless, of course, the unbelievable happens and Hitler meets the allied terms without reservation.

Were there any doubt as to the present Anglo-French intentions, it would be removed by the nature of the verbal assault which Winston Churchill, British first lord of the admiralty made on Hitler and Nazidom Sunday night. The first lord, who has one of the most devastating tongues of history, threw at the Nazis two of the bitterest taunts imaginable. Churchill committed the unpardon-

"To the honorable judge of the district court of the United States, western district of Louisiana:

"The grand jury at the November term, having completed its action on the cases presented to it, feels that there are other matters in this division of the district which should be investigated in order that possible violations of federal laws be brought to light.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and cure it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

"GREAT FROM THE 1ST SIP"

OLDEST NAVAL VESSEL ACTIVE

Ship Launched 152 Years Ago Still Is Sturdy Craft

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 14.—(AP)—The frigate Constellation, oldest ship in the United States navy, is bustling with activity these days under the "limited emergency" proclaimed by President Roosevelt because of war abroad.

Still carried on the navy's active list though it was launched 142 years ago, the sturdy vessel is providing living quarters for 150 enlisted men—space needed for expanded activity at the naval training station.

The 164-foot craft, an older sister of the famous U. S. S. Constitution, serves its time in yet another way by furnishing inspiration and naval lore for recruits while they live aboard awaiting transfer to other stations.

They learn that Captain Thomas Truxton and his crew of more than [illegible] trod the same decks when the Constellation met and defeated the French frigate L'Insurgente in a four-hour battle on February 9, 1799, off the West Indies.

That generally is regarded as the ship's most memorable feat, though the recruits also learn that she participated honorably in the War of 1812.

Although it has been many a year since she cast off her lines, she is regarded as being in "good shape."

The Constellation carried 36 guns originally and was rated at 1,265 tons. Constructed of wood and costing the government $313,314, she was launched in 1797 at Baltimore.

Every so often Baltimore residents attempt to have the ship returned "home," but Newporters object every time, declaring "she has grown to be a Newport institution."

MOTHER STILL HOPEFUL CHILD MAY BE SAVED

Not Satisfied With Doctors' Opinion Daughter Must Die

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Science said "No hope," but a mother prayed today that from a stream of blood offers will come "the one chance in a million that would save my little girl."

Four months ago 8-year-old Kathryn Felt became ill with acute lymphatic leukemia, a disease in which white corpuscles destroy the red. Physicians say no victim of the acute type has lived more than six months.

As her daughter's life drained slowly away, Mrs. Charles Felt went on the radio Sunday night with an appeal for blood donors. She had been told that a transfusion of type two blood from a person who had survived the disease might help Kathryn.

Offers poured in by telephone, telegram and mail until there were nearly 100 today—but science shook its head.

One offer came from Mrs. Joseph Root, Jr., of Westport, Conn., wife of an executive of the Union Truck Car company, who said she suffered from acute lymphatic leukemia 12 or 15 years ago.

Her physician, Dr. I. F. Scofield, of Woodside, L. I., confirmed he had treated her for the disease before she went to a hospital. He added:

"Of course I cannot state whether she was cured, but the fact she is alive today is heartening. Hers is the first case I know of in medical history that has not resulted in quick death."

"These people are obviously mistaken," said a spokesman for the Philadelphia County Medical society. "Some of them most likely have a chronic form of the disease and have shown some temporary improvement.

"In chronic cases (as compared with acute), persons may live a long time and not suffer any severe effects—but we have no record of any case that has been actually cured.

"The belief that the injection of blood from a person recovered from the disease will cure this little girl is futile, as undoubtedly no such case exists."

Mrs. Felt remained unshaken. Each new blood offer struck a spark of hope in her eyes as she battled to stave off what doctors call "the inevitable."

Kathryn grows steadily weaker in her bed on the third floor of the Felt home in suburban Chestnut hill but her mother explains that the need for a blood donor "is not a matter of minutes."

"We have time enough to sift each offer," Mrs. Felt explained.

"I know the hope is a forlorn one, but I intend to keep up the hunt."

Kathryn has had 15 transfusions. Is there a lucky number for her yet to come?

NEEDY GET FOOD WORTH $2,300,000

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—State Welfare Commissioner A. R. Johnson said that surplus foodstuffs valued at more than $2,300,000 were distributed to Louisiana needy during the first nine months of 1939.

Johnson said the commodities distributed in this state were part of those purchased by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation over the entire nation, ranging from Wisconsin butter to Louisiana rice, in efforts to bolster farm prices.

The commissioner said commodities distributed in this state included 2,654,771 pounds of butter valued at $919,528.21 and 8,979,471 pounds of white flour valued at $448,973.

The distributions in this state, Johnson said, went to an average 78,670 needy families each month.

M'ADOO IS THIRD TERM ADVOCATE

Former Senator's Statement Occasions No Great Surprise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 — (AP) — Former Senator McAdoo of California was added today to the group publicly advocating a third term for President Roosevelt.

In a statement issued last night in San Francisco, McAdoo said recent discussions with "a number of outstanding Democrats" in Washington had shown "a general consensus" that the president would be renominated.

He expressed the opinion that the chief executive, whom he supported throughout his senate term, would be overwhelmingly reelected.

"The third term tradition is mere dogma anyway," McAdoo said. "We don't have to observe it unless we want to."

His statement occasioned no great surprise in Washington. Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado, commented that it was "in the same category" as the recent third term statements by Secretaries Wallace and Ickes.

On the Republican side of the political scene, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, told reporters that "the only remedy there is for the evils of the party system is the independent voter."

He made this comment in response to a statement by Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican national committee that voters always should support the nominee of their party.

"We need the discipline that lies within the party," Hamilton declared. "One of the wrong basic conceptions in America today is that individuals make up the political system."

"I recognize," Borah said, "that Mr. Hamilton's views are the orthodox views, politically speaking.

"Under our system of government, it would seem that we must have political parties, and political parties inevitable trend toward the concentration of political power and toward corruption. The independent voter tends to keep politics clean."

WAGNER WANTS ANNUITIES PAID BY GOVERNMENT

Proposes 30 Per Cent Cheaper Rate Than Private Firms Offer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A proposed expansion of the social security program under which individuals could buy annuities from the government paying up to $100 a month at maturity has been submitted to President Roosevelt for consideration.

Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, sponsor of the social security legislation, was said reliably today to have discussed the annuity proposal with Mr. Roosevelt at a recent White House conference.

Details of the Wagner plan remain to be worked out, but well-informed sources said it would provide:

1. That any citizen could buy an annuity "insurance policy" providing up to $100 a month from the government at a cost 30 per cent less than he would have to pay a private insurance company.

2. That annuities be sold through postoffices in the same manner that postal savings and baby bonds are handled.

Wagner told reporters he had been advised by one insurance official that such an annuity program would do little harm to the private insurance business. Insurance companies, the senator added, are interested primarily in annuities paying more than $100 a month.

Wagner is expected to propose the new plan shortly after congress convenes in January. It was considered possible in some quarters that Mr. Roosevelt might recommend the scheme in his annual message on the state of the nation.

In addition to the annuity plan, the administration also may seek a general expansion of the social security program to bring in self-employed workers, domestic help and agricultural employes.

Such workers are not covered now by the old-age insurance provisions of the law, under which employers and employes are each taxed one per cent on salaries and wages. Starting next year, annuities will be paid from this fund to those who retire at 65, after having paid the tax long enough to build up a reserve sufficient to obtain benefits.

These payments, however, are fixed on a definite formula based on the worker's income and duration of employment. Under the formula any worker retiring in the next few years could not obtain more than about $50 monthly. There is no present provision whereby a citizen can purchase the annuity in the amount he chooses.

Sabotage Warning

The ghost of the first World war keeps popping up in this country even while American citizens have turned their attention to the new struggle. Over the protests of the German government the German mixed claims commission has awarded nearly $[illegible] to private Americans for two munitions explosions which occurred more than 20 years ago before the United States entered the first World war.

The first blast occurred on Black Tom island off New Jersey, in July, 1916, when two million pounds of ammunition were set off. The second was at Kingsland, N. J., where half a million three-inch shells blew up. The commission decided last June that both blasts were the work of German espionage agents.

The disposition of the Black Tom and Kingsland cases comes as a warning to this country—a warning that there is another war and that the allies will again want munitions. Since the neutrality act is finally revised to permit export of war supplies to warring countries, the United States must expect repetitions of such sabotage acts. Wars sometimes are fought a long way from the battlefields.

Economists say war today is even expensive for the onlooker. As in gridiron battles and prize fights, we must pay admission to enjoy the conflict.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

DON'T FORCE A CHILD TO EAT

[illegible]

It is too late to do anything after the orange juice is spilt. One has to start before that time, long before it. When Jimmie is off schedule mother will have to feel her way along as carefully as the engineer of a train off schedule has to make his. Watch for every red light. Listen and keep ready hands to serve any emergency.

Don't hold a baby's hands. When his hands are held, or his legs bound, his anger, his fighting instinct is roused and he will fight with all that is in him. He is not wanting to be mean and bad tempered. He is responding naturally to an instinct nature set him before his birth. Don't call out that instinct unless you think it needs calling out. You certainly don't want its contribution to the situation when you are trying to soothe and quiet a child and gain his cooperation.

Don't ever force a child to eat or to drink. Offer him his food. Offer the orange juice. If he refuses it, just set it down calmly, as you'd do any other bit of business, and go on from there. In a few minutes, when he thinks you have forgotten him, and you think he has about forgotten his refusal, sit down and drink some orange juice yourself, with every indication of personal enjoyment and with no reference whatever to his enjoying some. If he is the usual infant he will reach for his glass.

There will always be unexpected happenings where there are children. None of them comes with blueprints. And there are no rules that apply to all children in all circumstances. Each child will show his feelings, his needs, his perversities according to his pattern and his mother will have to think fast and move faster, to keep ahead of him.

And there is no need of being discouraged about spilling the orange juice and slapping the baby. It happens. Just keep going ahead and not minding. Give the baby time to rest, time to forget, time to begin again. And give yourself time out occasionally so you can keep a clear head on your shoulders, for you are going to need it.

He Sees The Light

[illegible]

The apple growers of the state of Washington wanted the regulations against apple spray residue modified. So did Beck, the convention was told.

The apple growers of Washington wanted support for the bill by Senator Schwellenbach of Washington authorizing $500,000,000 of additional farm credit refinancing. So did Beck, the convention was told.

The convention did not include the items specifically among its formal resolutions but the wishes of the Washington farmers supported by Beck were made a part of the legislative program which the AFL will sponsor in congress.

* * *

Old Stuff

Cooperation with potential foes is no new diversion for Beck. He started out years ago by organizing the laundry drivers in his own particular way. To the big laundry operators of Seattle he went with his proposition. He wanted better terms for the drivers. In return for better conditions, he offered to help freeze out cut-rate laundry owners. The thing worked. Subsequently he applied it to the dairy industry and to taxi companies and a fistful of other groups, including the all-powerful teamsters union, which now is the backbone of his organization.

The industrial operators, in turn, have helped freeze out opposition to Beck's labor organizations.

So tightly woven is the cooperation that complaints have arisen that business in Seattle is almost straitjacketed. Beck's people flatly deny this, insisting that business benefits hugely by assurance of peaceful relations with labor, which Beck enforces.

Tensas Athletic Plant Is Under Construction

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 14. (Special) [illegible]

The project includes filling of the school grounds and grading to serve as a football field and construction of two open frame grandstands on concrete footings. One will be 14 by 45 feet with a seating capacity of 200 and the other 14 by 90 feet with a seating capacity of 400. St. Joseph is represented for the first time by a football team, but the new plant will not be ready for the present season.

CIVIL SERVICE TO CONDUCT TESTS

The United States civil service commission has announced open competitive examinations for the positions listed below. Applications must be on file in the commission's office at Washington, D. C., not later than December 11 if received from states east of Colorado, and not later than December 14 if received from Colorado and states westward.

Orthopedic mechanic, $2,000 a year, veterans administration. The specialties included are: Bracemaker, shoemaker and leatherworker, and limbmaker. Applicants must have reached their twenty-fifth but must not have passed their fiftieth birthday.

Junior engineer, $2,000 a year (all branches of engineering). Completion of a 4-year professional engineering course at a recognized engineering college is required. Applicants must not have passed their thirty-fifth birthday.

Associate textile engineer, $3,200 a year, assistant textile engineer, $2,600 a year, agricultural marketing service, department of agriculture. The work has to do with the development of apparatus for experimental use in connection with cotton fibers and textiles. Completion of a 4-year college course and certain engineering experience are required, except that certain postgraduate study may be substituted for the experience. Applicants for the associate grade must not have passed their forty-fifth birthday, and for the assistant grade they must not have passed their fortieth birthday.

Full information may be obtained from C. E. Thornhill, secretary of the United States civil service board of examiners, at the postoffice or customhouse in this city, or from the secretary of the United States civil service board of examiners at any first or second-class postoffice.

Jimmie Fidler In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14.—At lunch today a constellation of today's stars took time out to pan the follies of yesterday's greats. What saps those old-timers were, they contended, burning the candle at both ends, roistering through the pre-repeal night clubs like a bunch of sailors on shore leave dissipating energy needed for their work and throwing their money to the winds. Quite an indictment, and the plight of many of those old-timers today justifies it.

No Normandie For Rose

I'm the chap who predicted that television might be on its way to your home by now. And my informants say that it would have been true, if the war did not curtail many important contacts with European television moguls.

All this fuss about Billy Rose taking over the liner Normandie, which is idling in her Manhattan berth, for a mammoth night club has been promptly repudiated by the French line. Rose broadcast the news himself.

Peculiar set-up for the cowboys at the rodeo. They don't work for salaries—only prizes which are guaranteed at $50,000 each by the Garden. If a cowboy wins, he's in the chips. If he doesn't, it's doughnuts and coffee. But the Garden, the cowboys gratefully tell you, is the only rodeo in the country that will pay all hospital expenses when a broncho buster's hurt.

MANY REPLIES GIVEN QUICKLY BY FIRST LADY

Mrs. Roosevelt Doesn't Think Third Term Necessary To Assure Peace

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 14.—(AP)—They fired a steady stream of questions, left and right, at Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last night and the first lady met them all with replies as ready as her smile.

Nearing conclusion of her lecture tour, Mrs. Roosevelt finished her prepared talk to an audience of 3,500 at the Essex county town hall forum and then the chairman asked if there were any questions.

There were.

"Do you believe a change of administration at this time would affect the possibility of retaining peace in America?" was the closest any one came to the third term issue.

"No, I do not," Mrs. Roosevelt answered. "I believe any administration would do its best to keep this country at peace."

When should the United States act as intermediary for peace was another query.

"At any time it looks as though the United States could act effectively, when a readiness for peace is shown."

Under what [illegible] should the United States [illegible] the allies?

This brought an instant "I don't know" from Mrs. Roosevelt. "I believe that is something up to the people of the United States to decide."

Must "capitalistic influences" be eliminated before an enduring peace can be established?

Mrs. Roosevelt was smiling broadly now.

"I don't [illegible]. However, it is the duty of [illegible] its proper interest [illegible]."

What were Mrs. Roosevelt's views on the transfer of United States ship registration to [illegible] other nations?

"It goes [illegible] against the grain to see [illegible] being [illegible] who are more [illegible] money. * * * An attempt [illegible] be made first to place ships in other American routes so [illegible] seamen could keep their [illegible]."

To the question of a referendum on war Mrs. Roosevelt said she was opposed [illegible].

HUGE TIMBER CONTRACT LET

Government To Sell Hurricane-Felled Trees For $14,400,000

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—(AP)—A $14,400,000 contract for the purchase of 600,000,000 board feet of New England hurricane-felled timber, believed to be the largest transaction of its kind in the nation's history, was made operative today by the northeastern timber salvage administration.

Leslie S. Bean, director of the salvage administration, said the purchase was made by a newly formed cooperative of wholesalers in a contract signed last Friday in Washington. Timber owners would receive $24 per thousand feet, Bean added, considerably higher than the price they normally receive.

The contract is effective for four and a half years and provides for payments of $800,000 each quarter, allowing dealers a 20 per cent return on their investment. Profits in excess of that amount will be split between the cooperative, known as the Northeastern Timber and Marketing association, and the Timber Salvage administration. The latter's share will be distributed among the original timber owners.

The cooperative agreed to take possession of the sawed lumber at the salvage scene. Bean said, adding that the contract would dispose of all the lumber—downed in the 1938 hurricane—which the salvage administration contemplated handling exclusive of that portion to be held in New England in anticipation of regional needs for the next six or seven years.

About 250,000,000 board feet of timber already has been sawed and operations are continuing at the rate of 4,000,000 board feet a week.

Bean credited Herman I. Hymans, Detroit lumber wholesaler, with originating the idea of the cooperative. He said Hymans had been contemplating the purchase of 500,000,000 board feet but became concerned at what might be done with the other half billion feet.

The salvage administration director said he did not know the identities of the men forming the cooperative, incorporated under the laws of the state of Delaware, but added that there must be at least 30 persons involved since that was the number the government specified must participate to prevent a monopoly.

METHODIST ANNUAL MEET IS OPENING

The annual conference of Methodist churches opened in the First Methodist church in Ruston Tuesday and sessions will continue through the week. On Sunday the pastors will be assigned for the coming year.

Rev. J. M. Alford, pastor of Gordon Avenue Methodist church in Monroe, and Dr. C. K. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church in West Monroe, are attending the conference. Each has closed a successful year for their respective churches.

The First Methodist church of Monroe will have for the next pastor Dr. A. M. Freeman who comes from Alabama, while the pastor of the church here for the past eight years, Rev. W. C. Scott, has been assigned pastor of the First Methodist church in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

SCHOOL ENGINEER SUCCUMBS WHILE PLEADING FOR JOB

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14.—(AP)—John H. Mills, 70, retired last July 1 from a school engineer's job as physically unfit, stood before the school board yesterday to plead for his position back.

"I offer you these letters from four physicians," he declared. "I'm as sound and healthy as I ever was, and you've robbed me of the privilege of making a decent livelihood.

"This means bread and butter to me and my family. You see, it is rather an imperative thing . . ."

His voice choked and he slumped to the floor.

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

YESTERDAY: Higgins is acutely embarrassed by questions about the Murchisons. A youngster, Gordon Deane, warns the Forresters about the loneliness of the campus, and the possibility of burglars. Michael hurries him off for a private talk.

Chapter Six

Course Of Action

TUCK was irate. "Michael's got a secret and he won't tell me what it is."

"He's a lawyer, Tuck. Lawyers can't tell their wives everything."

"Poof. This hasn't anything to do with lawyering. It's a secret about this house, Bunny, about this place we're living in. Something awful—and here we're right in it and that Michael thinks he's going to keep it from us."

"Surely, Tuck—isn't it your imagination again?" Bunny surveyed her friend laughingly.

"Bunny, stop talking to me like that! I tell you, I know it! I can see it. So could you, Bunny Temple, if you'd look. Why—didn't you see how shifty and funny that gardener was? He was scared to death to talk for fear we'd find out something. And I'll just bet that surprised Michael, too. He wouldn't have asked Higgins anything in front of me if he'd expected him to know anything. [illegible] just in time to keep Higgins from saying something."

"From saying what?"

[illegible] we're living in a mystery."

Bunny dropped down on the [illegible] steps and surveyed Tuck's flushed face and shining eyes with interest. "I begin almost to see [illegible] of sense in what you're saying, Tuck," she said. [illegible] the District Attorney, Duffy [illegible] I met him on the street and he asked me point blank if I were coming out here with you?"

"He did? Really?"

Bunny nodded.

"There," said Tuck. "That just [illegible]

[illegible] "Questions about what?" Bunny's brow was wrinkled.

[illegible] About what?" Bunny [illegible]

Charlotte Jean

TUCK, looking out over a garden [illegible] to herself. "I wish I had a crystal. I wish I had something I could ask questions and get the right answers." She tapped idly on the screen as she communed thus with Nature and herself.

It certainly seemed important to get information from somewhere—and since Tuck had no crystal and wouldn't have known what to do with it if she had, she was forced to consider other ways of attaining her object, and in a very few minutes her mind had arrived at the possible solution of the telephone book. She flew through the study door to the little table just inside the dining room door, upon which stood the telephone with its directory lying beside it. She opened the book quickly and thumbed over its pages.

"D . . D . . D . . ." she muttered. "It isn't a common name. He said she lived with the Devoes."

"Beg your pardon, Mrs. Forrester, ma'am?" Charlotte Jean, busy putting shining blue and white china into the cabinet, turned.

"I wasn't saying anything, Charlotte Jean," Tuck answered absently.

"No, Mrs. Forrester," Charlotte Jean replied obligingly. She took out a yellow bowl and gave it an extra polish.

"There it is!" Tuck cried. "I knew it — but — surely —— " She turned to the maid suddenly. "Charlotte Jean, isn't this house Number Ten, University Campus?"

"It is, Mrs. Forrester, or shall I go and look?"

"Of course it is. I knew it. Well—where would Number Eight, University Campus be?"

"It would be the house down at the end of the Horseshoe like, Mrs. Forrester, ma'am, wouldn't it? The one next to the old maid's house."

"Miss Lissey's," Tuck corrected automatically. "Charlotte Jean, do you know who lives in that house? Number Eight?"

"It's a Professor Devoe and his mother, Mrs. Forrester. The mother is very queer and nobody likes her, and the Professor is very soft spoken and gentle but he can't keep a dog, ma'am."

"My goodness, Charlotte Jean, are you clairvoyant?"

Charlotte Jean frowned anxiously. "I'm sure I hope not, Mrs. Forrester. It doesn't sound . . ."

"How do you know about them, then?"

Charlotte Jean blushed. "I asked the delivery boy, Mrs. Forrester. I thought there might be some nice girl around for me to go out with on Thursdays, but he says no, there isn't one out here. Mrs. Devoe does her own work in a kind of a way, he says, sort of cluttery and messy, it sounds to me, and Mrs. Deane is a good housekeeper and does her own work excepting the laundry, and Mrs. McBain has a cleaning woman twice a week."

"Well, did your delivery boy happen to tell you whether or not there is anybody staying at the Devoes'?"

"Oh yes, ma'am. It's Mrs. Murchison. She's the Professor's cousin, and that sounds as if she'd be Mrs. Devoe's niece, but she doesn't call her aunt at all. Maybe she's a niece by marriage, of course."

"[illegible]" Tuck meditated. "What's she like, Charlotte Jean?"

'Frenchy'

"WELL, he [illegible] like her. She's a very economical housekeeper [illegible]

[illegible]

"Thank you, Charlotte Jean. By the way, what happened to that pile of things we found in the house when we moved in? Did you put them away somewhere?"

"Do you mean the books, ma'am, and things? I've got them right here." She went to a cupboard and handed them to Tuck.

"I won't take this old dog eared thriller," Tuck decided. "'The Bartered Bride's' bad enough. Burn this, Charlotte Jean."

She carried the other two articles in her hand as she walked swiftly down the path to Number Eight. It was very much like the house they at present occupied, built of brick and half timber, but the placing on the lot was a little different, and it was not quite as large as Number Ten. Tuck approached it with a growing feeling of excitement. As she lifted the brass knocker her throat was dry.

It was several minutes before the door was opened. In the hall stood a young woman in a smart blue afternoon dress, with her hair in careful waves; too careful, Tuck thought quickly. As if a cap had just been taken from them, and the hairpins removed.

This was undoubtedly Mrs. Murchison.

"Mrs. Devoe?" Tuck said uncertainly.

"You wish then to see Mrs. Devoe?" the other woman asked.

"Thank you—it doesn't really matter," Tuck replied with a smile. "I am Mrs. Forrester, from Number Ten, and I understood that Mrs. Murchison who used to have that house lived here now. We found one or two things that belong to her in the house when we moved in, and I wanted to return them."

The woman unbent a little, although her black eyes were still sharp. "I am Mrs. Murchison," she said. "It is very kind of you. I thought I had left nothing."

More and more are quaint early American ceremonies being brought to light as enterprising districts through the country assemble data on local activities which will attract the touring sight-seer. Songs handed down from father to son, customs inscribed in no book, but remembered by an older generation, are being revived in an effort to preserve the original pattern of life in out-of-the-way settlements.

The "roulaison" to be celebrated on November 16, in New Iberia, La., is one of these—a festival dating from the days of the Acadians who settled in the south following their exile from Nova Scotia. The historic event of the Teche country, where the Acadians—or Cajuns, as Louisiana calls them—settled more than a century ago, marked the end of the sugar harvest. A day was set aside for feasting, followed by a night of dancing and music.

Visitors to the festival usually stop at nearby St. Martinville, ancient Acadian village, to wander among scenes described in Longfellow's "Evangeline."

A distinct honor was conferred upon a Monroe artist and her son, Mrs. Dean Selig, and Dean Selig, Jr., by members of the Gottschalk Music club of Ruston, who requested that they appear on their program. Mrs. Selig rendered several violin numbers, accompanied by an accomplished Monroe pianist, Mrs. George Moffett. Dean Selig, Jr., contributed several instrumental numbers by Chopin.

On Wednesday Mrs. Selig will appear on a program arranged by the Alto Music club.

Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne and infant son, William Richard, have left St. Francis sanitarium and are now at home to their friends at 703 Bres avenue. Mrs. Burgoyne was formerly Miss Zora Ann Barlowe.

The Ouachita Parish P.-T. A. will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, November 16.

Colonel E. P. Roy of the safety division of the state department of education, will speak on this occasion, and Mrs. G. B. Wilson, Swartz, state chairman on safety, will also be featured on the program. Among other speakers will be R. J. Goza, of the safety department of the city.

In a recent membership campaign, Miss Grace Carter's room won $5 for enrolling the largest number. Mrs. H. H. Land is the room mother.

In the grammar school Mrs. Carrie Bell Camp's room received $5 for enrolling the largest number. Mrs. A. C. Ransom is room mother and was in charge of enlistment.

Mrs. Julia Sims and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Sagers have just returned from a trip to Bowling Green, Ky., where they visited friends and combined business with pleasure.

Mrs. George Moore has returned from a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Payton, of Houston, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] of West Monroe [illegible] a son, Stanley Reese, November 12. Mrs. Smith [illegible] as Miss Ann Griggs of West Monroe.

VANDERBILT PRACTICES SECRETLY FOR TENNESSE

VOLS PLAN TO PUT BUTLER AT TAILBACK POST

Mississippi State Drills For Millsaps Without John Turner

(By Associated Press)

Secret practice by Vanderbilt and assignment of speedy Johnny Butler to tailback position on the Tennessee team in place of injured George Cafego today marked preparations of these teams for their Southeastern conference encounter Saturday.

Cafego was injured in The Citadel game. Butler [illegible] who wriggled his way 76 yards for a touchdown against Alabama.

Chief interest of the Vandy-Tennessee meeting centered on whether the Vandys' undercover drill could produce sufficient bedazzlement to slip just once across the Tennessee goal, so far unsullied this season.

Vandy was in good physical shape. Tennessee trainers said the squad would be ready except for Cafego.

Mississippi State went into drill for Millsaps without John Turner, fullback, who injured his knee against Louisiana State.

The Georgia Bulldogs readied for South Carolina with a hard workout arranged for the day. Coach Wallace Butts stressed pass defense against the wing-[illegible] Gamecocks.

Ernest Mills took the place of Guard Wallace Wise in Auburn's lineup as the Plainsmen prepared for Louisiana State. Wise sustained a broken leg in the victory over Villanova.

L. S. U. [illegible] backs Roy Anderson and Leo Bird, but they were expected to be in shape Saturday. The Bengals arranged to start conditioning [illegible]

Alabama studied Georgia Tech plays and the Techs took up aerial drill in a big way as they got ready for their meeting at Birmingham. The 'Bamans were battered in their defeat by Tulane but no serious injuries were reported. Tech was in fine shape after the pasting it handed Kentucky.

Halfback Hal [illegible] was the only serious [illegible] of the players. He [illegible] may get in shape for the [illegible] Saturday in New York. The Tulane Greenies planned to start [illegible] Wednesday.

The Florida Gators started [illegible] preparing for their game with Miami university which may decide the Florida state [illegible] The Kentucky Wildcats [illegible] their [illegible] for their session with West Virginia. Mississippi began light drill for West Tennessee Teachers.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Paul Christman, the Missouri football pitcher, can write his own ticket with the Giants as well as the Yanks. . . . Newberry college of South Carolina wants a Thanksgiving day game if November 23 is Thanksgiving day in your league. . . . Unconfirmed: If Bill Werber quits baseball the only Reds sure of their jobs are McCormick, Derringer, Walters and Vander Meer. . . . Talk of a new football league on the coast with Santa Clara, St. Mary's and San Jose among the members. . . . Carl Hubbell, using right-handed clubs, is cracking 80 almost daily over a Fort Worth course. . . . Ben Marden, local hot spot owner, has taken over the Havana race course.

Connie Mack: 'Watch out for me in 1941. . . . I'll have a winner after one more year of rebuilding."

That night baseball program the Giants will announce at a luncheon today was announced by everybody else a month ago. . . . Texas papers say the core of the trouble at Rice is dissension among the assistant coaches. . . . Whizzer White may be asked to head one of the teams in that big charity football game at San Francisco next January. . . . Burt Shotton, Columbus manager, will ship some of his prize bird dogs to the show the American Kennel club is sponsoring at Winter Haven, Fla., January 10-11. . . . Eight former members of the New York Rangers now coach hockey teams here and there.

Jim Schlemmer, Akron (O.) Beacon-Journal: "The National league's new baseball movie is entitled How to Play Baseball." . . . It should be compulsory for every National league player to see the flicker.

Those crystal balls the guessperts consulted last week must have been eight balls. . . . A big crowd including most of the regulars joined in the week's guessing contest but nary a guy could call the winners in all eight games. . . . What Auburn and Pitt did to 'em was a shame. . . . This week's toughies:

North Carolina-Duke; Alabama-Georgia Tech; Iowa-Minnesota; U. C. L. A.-Santa Clara; Missouri-Oklahoma; Pitt-Nebraska; North Dakota-Northwestern; Penn-Michigan; Dartmouth-Cornell; Penn State-Army.

There's a cinch bill! You get seven and you'll be considered satisfactory. . . . Eight is to be rated good and nine excellent. . . . Call all ten and win a pass to the wrestling match, if any.

DUKE LOOMS IN UNDEFEATED N. CAROLINA PATH

Tarheel State Agog Over Clash Between Two Elevens This Week

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—North Carolina, normally made up of sober business men, tobacco farmers and folks connected with the cotton textile industry, was populated Monday by an estimated 2,000,000 Monday quarterbacks working on a vital two-fold question.

All of them were asking, "Who's going to win, North Carolina or Duke?"

Some 2,949,000 wanted to know, "How am I going to get in to see that game Saturday?" The other 51,000 bought their pasteboards weeks ago. Scalping was at a minimum because the scalpers wanted in, too.

That's history repeating, for every year the staid Old North State gets a bad case of football jitters just before this game, and when a possible Rose Bowl or Sugar Bowl bid hangs in the balance it's just that much worse.

Partisans of the undefeated Tarheels can't forget the debacle they refer to as "the nightmare of 1935."

That year Wallace Wade's Blue Devils had lost to Georgia Tech and Auburn. But Led by the great Ace Parker they came back to blast Carl Snavely's previously unbeaten eleven, and [illegible] cause a mass cancellation of reservations to Pasadena.

This year the setup is much the same. A [illegible] unbeaten Tulane is the only blot on Carolina's record. Duke lost by one point to Pittsburgh and [illegible] in getting by Georgia Tech 7-6.

Duke doesn't have Ace Parker, but George McAfee, a fine triple-threat back, fills his shoes. His main rivals for all-star honors will be the two boys whose pass-flinging ability helped Ray Wolf install his Southwestern style attack at Chapel Hill, General George Stirnweiss, the Bronx Bomber, and Jim (Sweet) Lalanne, the Baton Rouge [illegible] from Louisiana.

The Tarheels appear to have an edge on paper, but they've beaten Wade only twice in his eight years at Duke.

Old Prof's Class Swollen With Record Attendance

Nation's Mentors Offer Comments On Week-End Grid Happenings

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The chairs, radiators and windowsills were occupied and several pupils were standing, some well back on their heels, as the Old Professor met with his Monday morning class of football coaches.

Old Professor—Well, well, gentlemen, this attendance is most gratifying, by I fear we won't have time for all of you to recite. Now gentlemen, I didn't say much when Oklahoma beat Northwestern, and Cornell beat Ohio State, but there is such a thing as carrying a good thing too far. I think when Iowa beats Notre Dame and Princeton beats Dartmouth it's time to call a halt on such going on.

Tad Wieman, Princeton—Honestly, Professor, I was as much surprised as you. Princeton played its best game season, and kicking was the decisive factor.

Earl Blaik, Dartmouth—If Princeton has been like this all season it is darn good. Dickie Wells, whose dad was Dartmouth hockey captain in 1912, is probably the best defensive back in the Ivy circuit.

Old Professor—Mr. Kirwan, I see you finally have found a seat in the losers' section.

A. D. (Ab) Kirwan, Kentucky—Yes, Professor. When Tech began tossing end around and reverses at us I began to think our boys were taking a nap right out there on the field. However, Tech was much too good for us.

Bill Alexander, Georgia Tech-Kentucky is as tough a team as we've played. Saturday it was fully as good as Duke or Notre Dame.

Old Professor—Here, here, Mr. Zuppke. Trying to give us the slip?

Bob Zuppke, Illinois—Oh no, Professor. Wisconsin gave us the slip on that fake forward pass and we took advantage of it to win over a well-rested, well-oiled machine that outplayed us offensively.

Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin—Zup really deserved to win. His boys are well coached. We have a peculiar team. We make it tough for our opponents, and then turn around and make it easy for them.

Old Professor—Mr. Bell, you look like you'd been through a wringer, if you'll excuse the pun.

Matty Bell, Southern Methodist—Professor, the Texas Aggies are one of the nations' greatest teams. We played Notre Dame and Oklahoma, but those Aggies are better.

Homer Norton, Texas Aggies—Southern Methodist was great, by far the toughest team we've played. Those last four seconds, when S. M. U. almost connected over our goal line with a pass, were the longest I ever experienced. We had to win that one.

Old Professor—How about this fellow Paul Christman, Mr. Stevens?

Mal Stevens, N. Y. U.—He's the best passer I've seen this year. He was the difference in the ball game. If our Ed Boell had been in top shape it might have been closer.

Don Faurot, Missouri—It was one of the best games we've played this year. If we can do as well this week as we did the last two weeks we have a good chance of knocking off Oklahoma for the Big Six title.

Old Professor—That's the spirit. Something, Mr. Henry?

Gwinn Henry, Kansas—I'd just like to say, Professor, that Biff has a great bunch of boys, and their reserve power was too much for us. We played our best game of the season.

Biff Jones, Nebraska—Give plenty of credit to Ralph Miller, Ed Hall, and those fine Kansas guards. I though the game would never end.

Old Professor—Everything ends sometime, Mr. Jones, even classes, and I see our time is up. Watch out for that first step as you go out. It's a tough one. Good day, gentlemen.

COACHES REMARK ON SATURDAY'S GAMES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Coaches of Louisiana State and Loyola universities praised rival players Monday before the Monday Quarterback's club while Coach Lowell Dawson of Tulane reserved his highest compliments for his own great tackle, Harley McCollum.

Bernie Moore of L. S. U. said Mississippi State's halfbacks, Harvey Johnson and Jack Nix, were "the difference between the two teams" Saturday night when the Mississippian defeated his club. Larry Mullins of Loyola called Sid Ducharme of Southwestern Louisiana "exceptionally good, and judging from his physique and type of play, a man who would be outstanding in a tougher league."

Dawson, questioned concerning Alabama's Tackle Merrill, said "Merrill is awfully good but he hasn't the speed of McCollum, who is the best tackle I've seen all year."

Moore said Johnson's play was his bitterest pill in the loss to State as he "wore out two automobiles and spent $500 trying to get him for L. S. U.

Asked about prospects against Auburn against us is always a top ball burn against us is alawys a top ball club. Our first team is tired, as the schedule has been too much for our ability. They were out on their feet Saturday. If they recover it will be a close ball game."

Dawson said Columbia, which Tulane meets Saturday in New York, "is improved and steadily getting better. They haven't been throwing as many passes as last year when they had one of the greatest passers in the country in Sid Luckman."

NEVILLE PREPS FOR VICKSBURG

Brown Announces Scheduling Of Game With Jonesboro-Hodge

Coach Percy Brown put his Neville High school Tigers through a long workout yesterday in preparation for their Friday night engagement with thte Carr Central Greenies of Vicksburg, Miss., at Brown field here.

The Bengals went through a long dummy scrimmage and signal drill, worked on their passing and punting and ran through a lengthy blocking session. The workout lasted until nightfall. A scrimmage under game conditions is slated for this afternoon.

Coach Brown also announced that a game with the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers had been scheduled the past week as an attraction at the Christmas fiesta here December 2 at Brown field. High schools from throughout the northeast Louisiana territory have been invited to participate in the Christmas event, and the football game will be a side attraction.

A special train will be run here from Vicksburg for the game Friday night, according to information received here. Four hundred tickets have been sold at Vicksburg, it was reported, and a large crowd of Mississippi visitors is expected here for the Carr Central-Neville battle. The Carr Central band will also be here.

Vicksburg is expected to give the locals one of their hardest fights of the season but the Bengals will meet the invasion with their full strength. Coach John Brown last night said his aggregation, after a two weeks' rest, was in its best condition of the year.

The Greenies are members of the Big Eight conference of Mississippi high schools, and they missed their conference title by one touchdown last Friday night, when the Laurel Tornado won the crown with a 12-to-7 victory over Carr Central. The Big Eight in Mississippi is similar to Louisiana's Class AA.

INDIANS OPEN PRACTICE FOR SOUTHEASTERN

One Indian Injured At Pensacola; Another Dropped From Team

The Northeast Center of L. S. U. Indians, home from their invasion of Pensacola, Fla., where they trounced the United States Naval Air corps, 24 to 0, Saturday, began work yesterday for their Friday night battle at Hammond with their arch rival, Southeastern Louisiana college.

Southeastern has appeared on more Northeast Center schedues than any other team and has always been one of the locals' toughest opponents and the south Louisianian's are so hard to beat that games in the past two years have ended in scoreless ties.

So far this year Southeastern has lost only one ball game and to the fast-stepping Louisiana Normal Demons by an 18-to-0 score. They have a veteran eleven back in Hammond also this year, the lineup being practically the same as that which tied the Indians the past two years.

In the game with Louisiana Normal, Southeastern could use no freshmen, but they can use anything available against the Tribesmen; and Coach James L. Malone must depend to a great extent on freshman material to battle the Southeastern aggregation.

The Indians suffered only one injury in Saturday's game, Big Bill Singleton coming out of the battle with a nose fracture, but yesterday they lost a star lineman when Rudy Broussard, guard, was dismissed from the squad.

Broussard, captain of the Saturday game with the Navy Flyers, was dismissed yesterday by Coach Malone. In announcing Broussard's dismissal, Coach Malone gave no reason for the action but said it was "for the good of the team." Coach Malone admitted Broussard was a atellar performer and that his loss would weaken the line.

As a result of Broussard's dismissal, John "Butch" Porter, only veteran of the Indian line, was switched from his regular berth at left guard to Broussard's right guard slot. Mike Miholic was moved into the regular left guard position.

Bill Singleton's injury will not keep him out of the lineup Friday, Coach Malone said.

The Tribe got a hard workout yesterday and has a lengthy scrimmage session on tap for today.

Despite being travel weary from their Pensacola trip and nursing the usual run of bruises and sore muscles after a battle, the Redskins went through a spirited practice session.

"The team realizes a hard battle is ahead and that Southeastern is rated to win in view of past performances," Coach Malone said, "but my boys are determined to overcome any odds in upsetting pre-game dope.' '

THREE BATON ROUGE PLAYERS SUSPENDED

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Three star players of the Baton Rouge High school football team have been suspended from their squad because their eligibility has been question.

Coach Osborne (Butch) Helveston said the three, Tackles Henry Bozeman and Dick Norton and Guard John McGraw, were suspended after a rival school here, Istrouma High, had brought up the eligibility question.

The matter was called to the attention of J. M. Boyet, principal of the Vinton High school and president of the Louisiana High School Athletic association, by Istrouma in following out the mandate that all schools suspecting violations submit reports to the state association.

However, no formal protest has been filed by either Istrouma or Catholic High, the third contender here, and it was understood here no action would be taken by the state association unless it receives a formal protest.

Coach Helveston first learned that there was a question as to the eligibility of three of his players early last week and he refrained from using them in a game with Lake Charles last week-end.

MAROONS SUFFER HURTS IN BATTLE WITH TIGERS

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Cheering over Mississippi State's 15-12 victory over Louisiana State Saturday subsided greatly Monday when trainers announced the injured list and said John Turner, regular fullback, was probably lost for the rest of the season.

Turner's knee was hurt. Halfback Billy Jefferson and Tackle John Alford probably will have to stay out of the Millsaps game Saturday but may be ready for Ole Miss.

Regulars injured enough to keep them out of practice Monday included Harvey Johnson, great halfback; Buddy Elrod and Dog Carter, ends; Foots McDowell, guard, and Charles Shamburger, tackle.

Coach Allyn McKeen scrimmaged his second and third stringers Monday.

Contributions For Trip Expenses Of Center Band Asked

BAND FUND

B. R. Kitchingham	$ 5.00
Dr. C. C. Colvert	3.00
Jim Malone	2.00
Total	$10.00

The recently organized Northeast Center of L. S. U. band plans to make its first trip with the Indian football team this week to Hammond, where the Tribe faces Southeastern college Friday night, but unless financial assistance is forthcoming the trip will have to be cancelled.

Dr. C. C. Colvert, dean of the local junior college, last night announced members of the band would be able to pay about half the traveling expenses and lookout for their meals but that at least $40 would be needed additionally to complete traveling expenses.

The band is seeking to raise the additional funds through subscriptions, and three donations amountling to $10 cut the required amount to $30 last night. Any donations over the needed amount will be accepted to lighten the load on those members of the band who have already agree to manage their own way.

It was pointed out by Dr. Colvert that an appropriation for the band was not included in the year's budget at the institution, although financial assistance is expected on the 1940-41 budget. However, Louisiana State university is providing uniforms, it was said. Uniforms similar to those of L. S. U. have been ordered on the state university's contract for such equipment and are due here Thursday.

Persons wishing to assist may send their donations to the Band Fund, News-Star—World, or to the junior college.

WATKINS SIGNED FOR SEMI-FINAL

Sailor's Opponent In Supporting Mat Event To Be Named Later

Sailor Watkins, Amarillo, Tex., matmen, will be one of the contestants in the semifinal event at the Monroe Wrestling arena here Thursday night, Promoter Gus Kallio said last night.

The Sailor's opponent, Promoter Kallio said, had not been signed, but the choice rests between Joe Parelli, Chuck Powell and Sailor Moran and one of the three will be signed within the next few days.

The main event, an exhibition of championship wrestling with Carlos Ramos, Mexican grappler recognized by the National Wrestling association as the junior light-heavyweight champion, supplying the title show in a bout with Otto Ludwig, already has been announced.

Any of the three men who are expected to oppose Watkins in the semifinal are capable opponents for the former navy champion. All employ the same rough style with which the Sailor batters his foes and Watkins will be in for a rough night.

Watkins, in spite of his rough and frequently unfair ring tactics, appears to be the most popular wrestler to appear in the local arena, having won first place in the wrestlers' popularity contest at the arena two times running. The Sailor, however, dispelled any doubts in fans' minds that he depends solely on his roughness to conquer his opponents in his match here last Thursday night, when he subdued Ludwig in the best exhibition of smart, skillful wrestling witnessed by fans in many weeks.

The ex-gob let Ludwig do most of the dirty work—something he seldom does—and kept the German tangled up in his own attack with a fine exhibition of defensive work.

Watkins has but to win the ballot for the most popular matman one more time to gain possession of the prize, a silver loving cup donated by Peacock's Jewelers of Monroe. And from the way the Sailor walked away from his opposition in the voting last week, he may pull the trick Thursday night.

Provisions for heating the arena for the comfort of patrons have been made, Promoter Kallio said. The first event will start at 8:30 p.m. The referee for the matches will be announced later.

PLAINSMEN CELEBRATE WIN OVER EASTERN FOE

AUBURN, Ala., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Ernest Mills, junior guard, returned to Auburn's first string lineup Monday to take the place of Wallace Wise, who suffered a broken leg in Saturday's game with Villanova.

Enthusiasm reigned in the Auburn camp because of the first victory over an eastern foe in many years. Coach Jack Meagher lauded his boys but warned that gradual improvement would have to be continued because four stiff games remain on the schedule.

Meagher complimented Halfback Dick McGowen and Center Malvern Morgan for playing the best game of their careers against Villanova, while Captain Milton Howell, guard, also came in for a share of the laurels.

Preparations for Louisiana State began with a light workout for the regulars, with others scrimmaging until sundown.

TIGERS TAKE REST TO FORGET BLUES

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Coach Bernie Moore Monday gave his alternate varsity teams a holiday in order to shake off the "blues" from their loss to Mississippi State, first defeat at the hands of the Maroons in nine years.

Moore said he was not disappointed at all with the showing of his charges against Mississippi State but expressed the belief they were simply too worn out after the Tennessee game the previous week-end.

"We simply were beaten by the second best team we played this season," Moore said. "Tennessee was our strongest foe and taking on Mississippi State on the following week-end was just too much for us to handle."

Moore said his two teams would get down to work Tuesday for the Auburn game here next Saturday afternoon. Third team players and "red shirts" scrimmaged against frosh Monday afternoon.

Only key men injured in the Mississippi State game were Fullback Roy Joe Anderson and Halfback Leo Bird. They had slight limps from leg injuries but were expected to be back in form for Auburn.

COTTON

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Cotton futures moved within narrow ranges in quiet trading today. Price fixing at limits, a little New Orleans absorption and some local buying on the steady stock market offset scattered hedge selling and foreign liquidation.

Mid-afternoon prices were steady, unchanged to 5 points lower. December was off 1 at 9.56 and distant October was 5 lower at 8.44.

Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Cotton, fair demand for spot, prices five points higher. Quotations in pence: American, strict good middling 7.60, good middling 7.20; strict middling 7.10, middling 7.00, strict low middling 6.90; low middling 6.45, strict good ordinary 6.00; good ordinary 5.65. Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Domestic sugar futures moved irregularly today as the market awaited fresh quota news from Washington. Mid-afternoon prices were 4 points higher to 1 lower. March traded at 1.90 and May at 1.92.

World futures were also trendless with the list 1-2 point net lower to 1 higher in afternoon dealings. September sold at 1.45 and March at 1.41.

Raw sugar was quiet but firm. Prompt Cubas were believed available at 1.80 [illegible] F. with forward P[illegible] [illegible] at 2.90 cents duty paid basis. Refiners were possible buyers of December arrivals at 2.95 cents.

Refined was unchanged at 5.00 cents although sugar is selling in competitive southern areas 10 points less.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The stock market today paid little attention to Europe's so-called "sit-down war" and not a great deal to home affairs, but selected issues managed to take a few rallying steps.

Favored steels, aircrafts, motors and specialties were pushed up fractions to a point or so after an irregular opening. The buying pace quickened a bit during a brief forenoon interval, then slackened as profit taking came in and cut down top marks.

While many issues were able to keep best advances, minor losses were plentiful. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares, with the ticker tape loafing in the final hour.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—(AP)—Moderate leanings toward a recovery trend were exhibited by selected stocks in today's market.

The list got off to a slow start, with prices spotty. Buying in steels and motors then turned the tide and improvement soon was being registered in other departments. The pace, brisk for a brief interval, slackened subsequently under profit taking and, near the final hour, top gains running to a point or so were reduced.

Aside from the steady flow of heartening domestic business news, which [illegible] been ignoring for a couple of months, brokers could find nothing particularly outside to stimulate the speculative appetite.

[illegible] centers head to a [illegible]. Bonds and commodities were a trifle uneven. Among [illegible] were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, American Airlines, International Harvester, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, American Car, Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio and Montgomery Ward.

Tilting higher on the curb were Lockheed, Jones and Laughlin, Electric Bond and Share and Aluminum of America.

The [illegible] steels were aided by the statement of President Hook of the American Rolling Mill before the T. N. E. C. hearing advocating a boost in prices for sheet, strip and other flat-rolled products. There was still a large question-mark, though, regarding any general lifting of quotations in the next quarter.

Rising forecasts for the aircraft makers and transport lines helped bolster this division.

Coppers had the benefit of Anaconda's third quarter report revealing net of 51 cents a share against 19 cents in the same 1938 period and 40 cents in the second quarter of the present year.

Oils again were among the different groups as it was estimated crude production in the week ending November 11 was up more than 20,000 barrels over the previous week.

Reports for the fiscal year of July 1, 1938 to June 30, 1939 disclosed that blood specimens examined by the board of health totaled 432,679. Taking into account those made by other agencies, including private physicians and clinics, the full number probably would be nearly a million, the health authorities said.

The city gave 30,261 pre-natal blood tests representing approximately 80 per cent of all the babies born in Chicago in those 12 months. 92,173 specimens were taken in schools, and 66,015 in industry.

Tests made by the board of health since the start of the campaign totaled 795,661, a figure more than doubled by augmenting reports from other sources.

During the July 1, 1938-June 30, 1939 period 787,846 treatments for syphilis were administered. 26,192 positive cases were uncovered by public health officers that year.

Chief casualty was Councilman Michael J. Quill, who ran independently after the American Labor party repudiated its endorsement because of his refusal to support the party's anti-Communist resolution denouncing the Hitler-Stalin pact.

Quill, who is president of the Transport Workers union (C. I. O.), was defeated for reelection by a narrow margin.

CONCORDIA LIBRARIES CELEBRATE BOOK WEEK

FERRIDAY, La., Nov. 14.—(Special)—National Book week, November 12 through November 18, is being observed in Concordia parish by the central library here and all branches over the parish.

The program for the week includes book exhibits, book talks, poster contests, essay contests and in some branches a story telling hour. The week is given over to emphasizing the effect and value of books on the people of America. The parish library is offering to cooperate closely with the public schools in the observance of the week.

JENKINS BARELY ELECTED

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Ab Jenkins, who has raced to 153 automobile speed records, limped to victory in the mayoral contest a week after the non-partisan election. An official canvass gave him 21,127 votes to 21,076 for the incumbent, Herbert Snow.

THE TOP WHISKEY BUY FOR THE MONEY

OLDER IN AGE — Now three years old—an extra good whiskey made extra fine by an extra year in the wood.

HIGHER IN QUALITY — A quality whiskey since 1880 and made the quality way—richer, smoother, mellower.

STILL LOW PRICED — And today this old favorite among Kentucky straight bourbon whiskies still sells for around a dollar a pint.
